A Quaint Treatise on "Flies, and the Art a Artyfichall Flee Making"
by W. H. Aldam

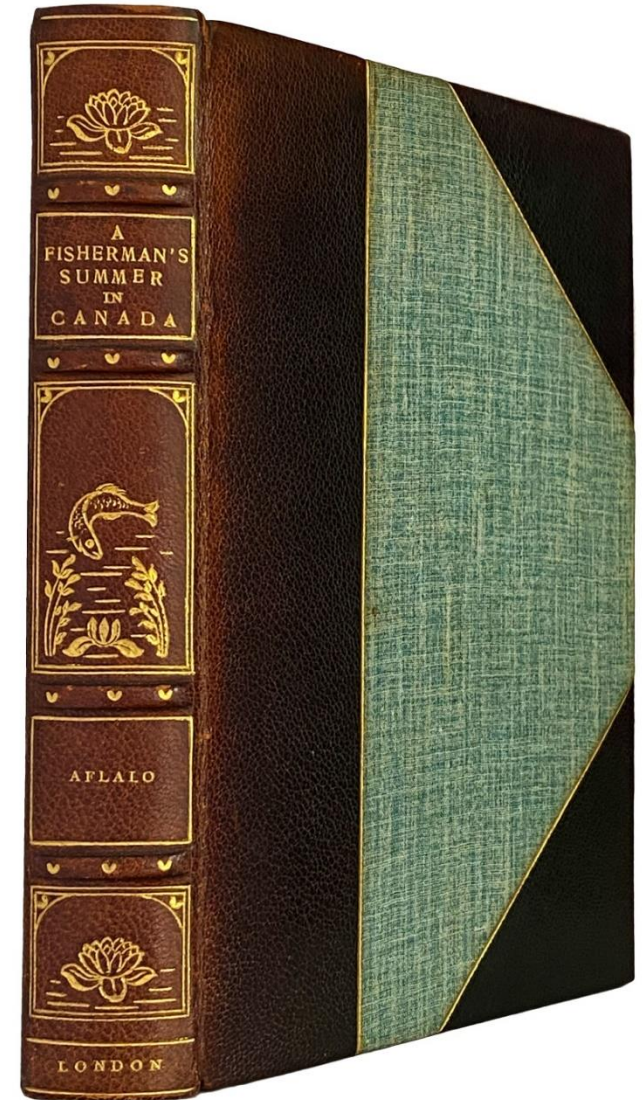

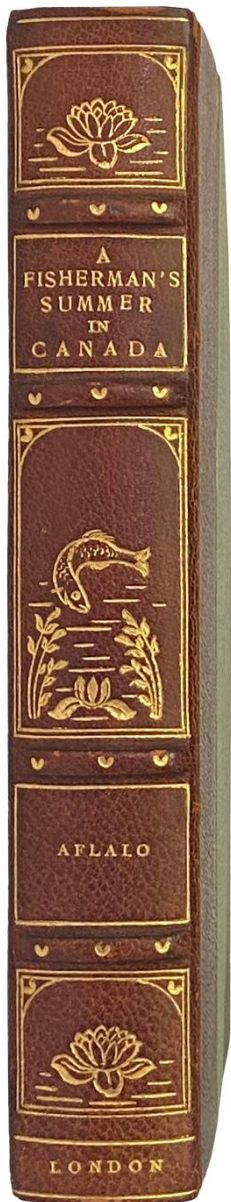

1. AFLALO, F.G.

A Fisherman's Summer in Canada. London. Witherby & Co. & New York. Charles Scribner's Sons. 1911. 19.5cm, First Edition, xii,147p., plus frontis and 26 plates from photographs by the author, in angling motif fine binding, in half fine grain dark brown crushed morocco toned to lighter brown on the spine, decorated raised bands, with gilt Angling illustrations, decorations and borders in the panels, gilt titles, gilt borders on the cross grain light green boards, marbled endpapers, top edge gilt, some random foxing mainly on the margins but heavier on the title page, very light or mostly none on the plates, one plate has a small patch of wrinkling, not over stated this a beautiful decorated fine binding

450.00

My sense is that this is an American binding typical of the house binding that came from Scribner's in this era.

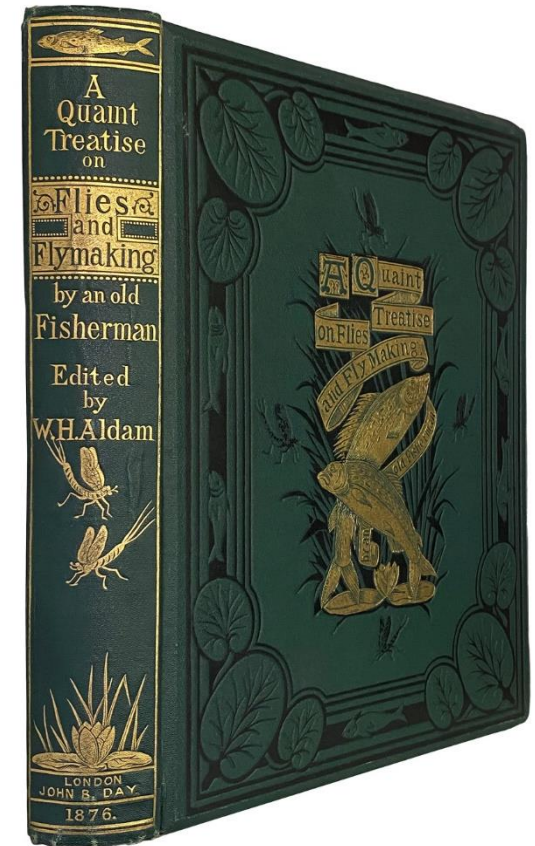

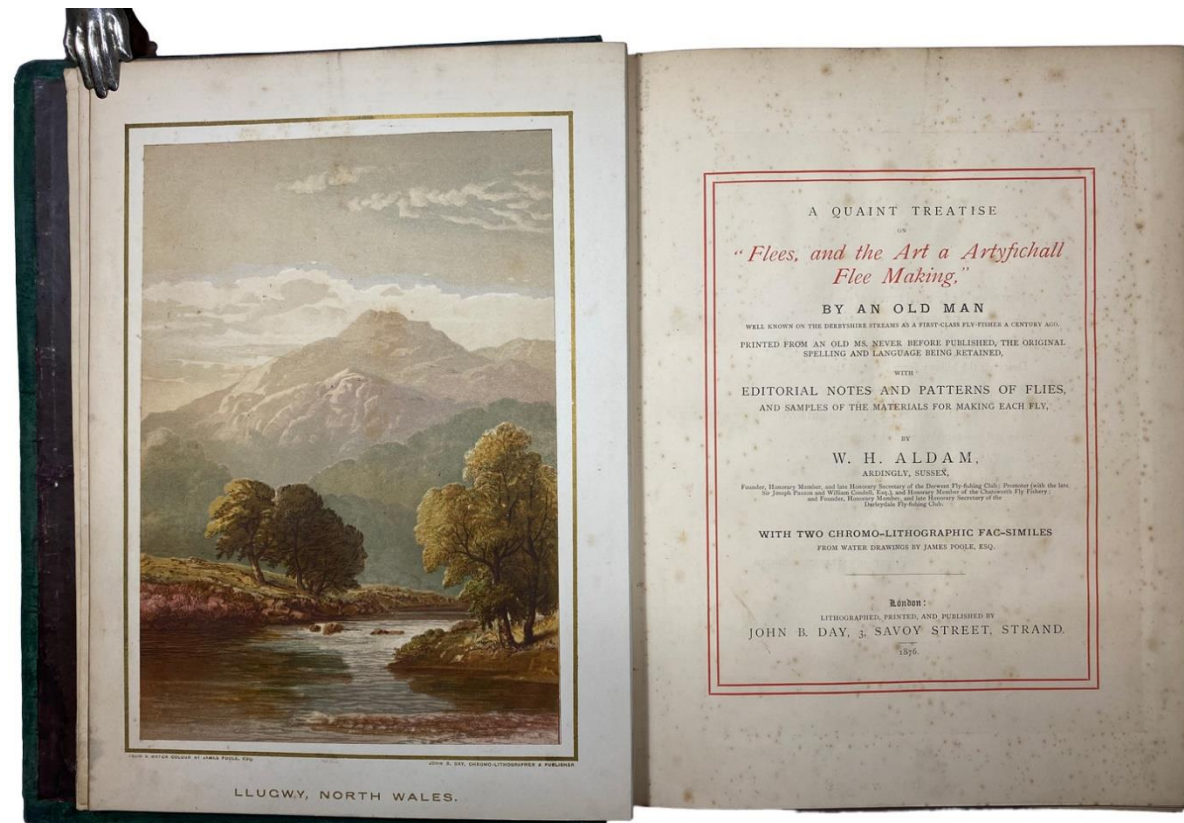

Fishing for trout, salmon, tuna, muskie, bass and other game fish in Canada's at the turn-of-the-century in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and the Great Lakes. Edwards 14. "The introduction includes information on fishing in B.C.". Starkman & Read, p59. - Wetzel p95 - Bruns A-50.

The First Book to use Actual Flies - in Beautiful Pictorial Publisher's Binding

2. ALDAM, W. H.

A Quaint Treatise on "Flies, and the Art a Artyfichall Flee Making". By An Old Man well known on the Derbyshire Streams as a first-class fly-fisher a century ago. Printed from an Old Ms. Never Before Published, the Original Spelling and Language Being Retained, with Editorial Notes and Patterns of Flies and Samples of the Materials for Making Each Fly. - With Two Chromo-Lithographic Facsimiles from water drawings by James Poole.

London. John B. Day. 1876. 4to, 27.5cm, the First Edition, 2nd issue, xiii,[1](errata page),91p., plus 2 chromo litho colour plates & 25 actual specimens of flies and fly making material in 22 oval mounts on 8 (six double sided) hard card plates with 22 recesses of real flies and materials, all present, the text and mounts in red double line borders throughout, in the original dark green cloth, elaborately decorated spine and upper cover with gilt titles, black stamped borders and decorations & gilt vignette fish and fly pictorial decorations, bevelled boards, a.e.g., some slight foxing as usual but very little on the plates, very good to fine, the binding is fine

Westwood & Satchell p3. Heckscher 18. Sage p3. "With two chromo-lithographic facsimiles... The various patterns and samples are inserted on heavy card stock in an oval frame with raised edge to protect them". First book to use actual fly tying materials and flies. It is said approximately 220 copies were produced.

"There exist to-day many books with excellent representations of artificial flies .but the best of all, for beauty and interest, is Aldam's 'Quaint Treatise'" (Hills). The two large mayflies in the book "were tied by James Ogden. These are the oldest surviving examples of which the author knows" (Betts).

The Art of Angling; or Complete Fly Fisher: Describing, The Different Kinds of Fish, their Haunts, Places of Breeding, &c.&c. Also, Observations on the Breeding of Carp; and the Regulating of Pools or Ponds. To which are added, The Various Kinds of Baits, and Diversity of Flies which Nature Produces: together with ample Directions for Making Artificial Flies. A New Edition. Birmingham. Printed by Swinney & Hawkins sold by G.G. & J. Robinson, and T. Hurst. N.d. [1790]?. 12mo. 17cm, a new edition., xii,108p., Wanting the 3 plates, contemporary boards heavily worn rebaked in later quarter brown sheep, upper hinge cracked, text is clean and sound, as is

800.00

An early British classic of angling first published in 1747 by Richard Bowlker; the second (1758) and all subsequent editions were credited to the son, Charles Bowlker. This Swinney and Hawkins edition is undated but World Cat lists two editions of the publisher; 1790 and 1806. Only the 1790 edition is noted as having "New Edition" in title.

I only located one copy with this pagination which is on Worldcat. No records located. I think it is earlier than the date assigned.

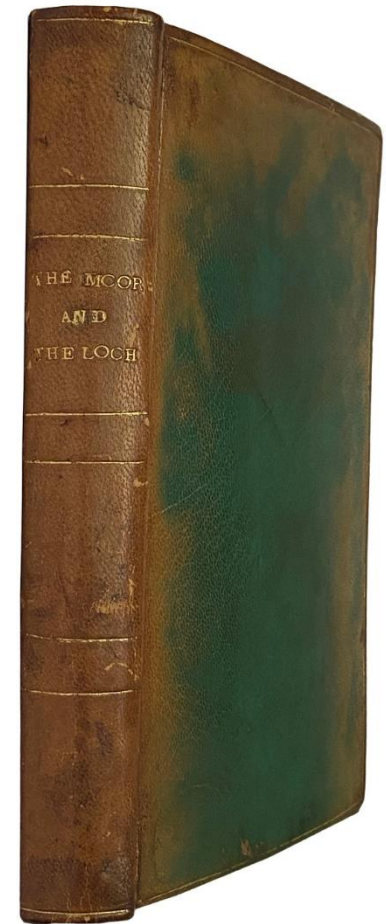

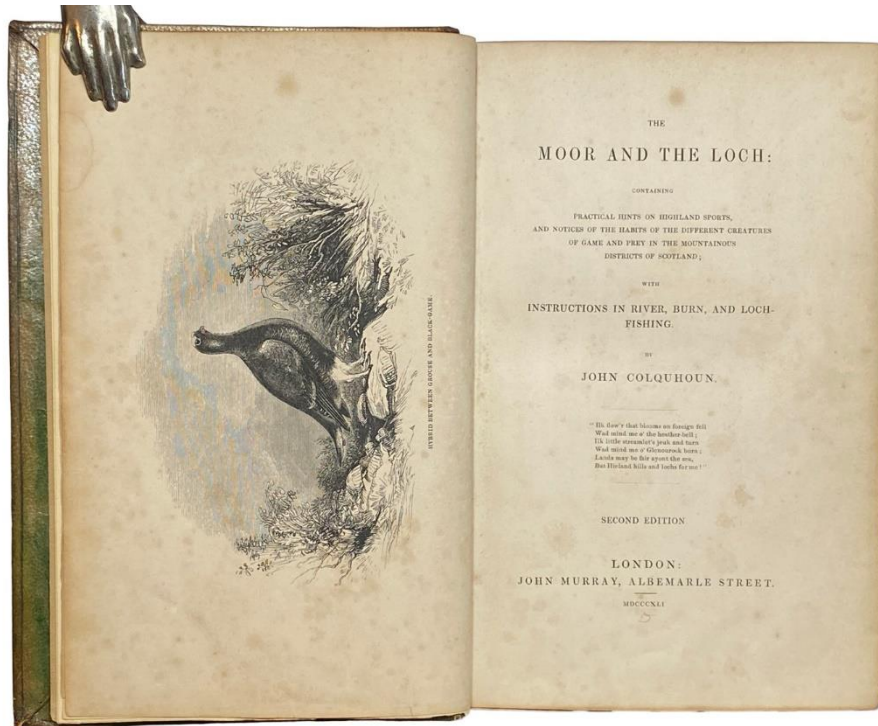

7. COLQUHOUN, John

Westwood & Satchell, p102.

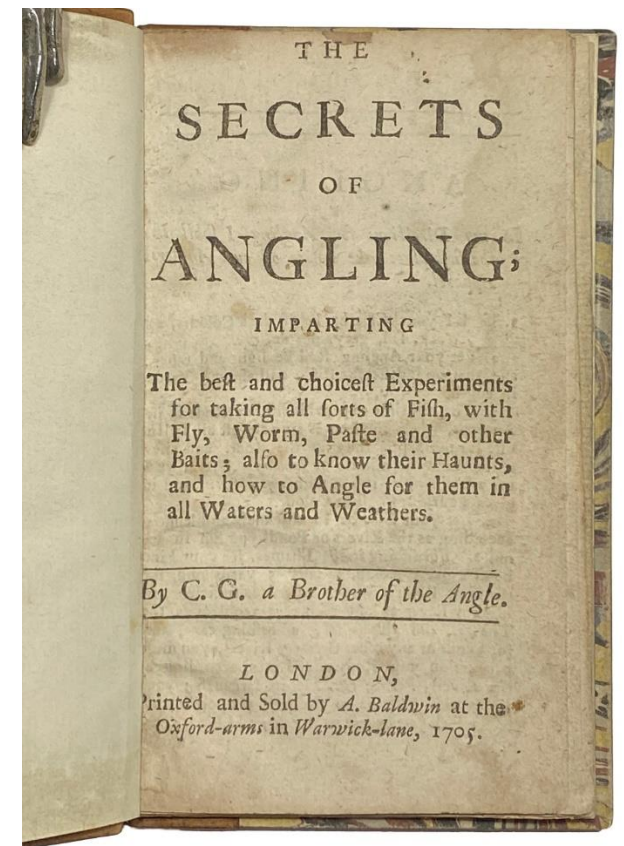

Provenance: With the circular printed paper bookplate of noted Angling collector J.C. Lynn, Bibliotheca Piscatoria, Lynniana. Also: C.R. Morphy's copy with a note in pencil indicating that this copy was from The Family Jewell... see below.

A rare very early eighteenth British angling treatise published by London publisher, Abigail Baldwin. Many quaint fishing hints: "In summer time when Cattle come to the Fords, their Dung driveth the Fish to the lower end of the Ford; then angle for a Cheven, with baits proper for him. The Eyes of Fishes are an excellent Bait for most Fishes."; Monthly flies:

"February. Palmer Flies, little red Brow, the silver Hackle, the plain Hackle, the God Hackle, the great blew dun, the great dun, the dark brown". Also includes several sections on jappanning: The Art of Jappanning and Painting in Oyl."

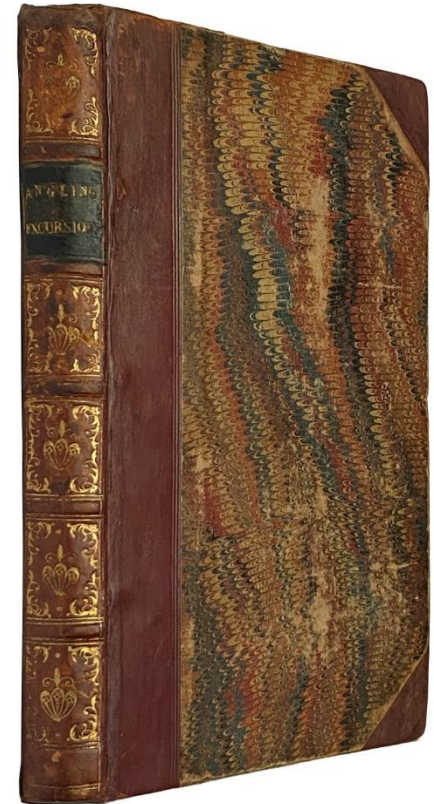

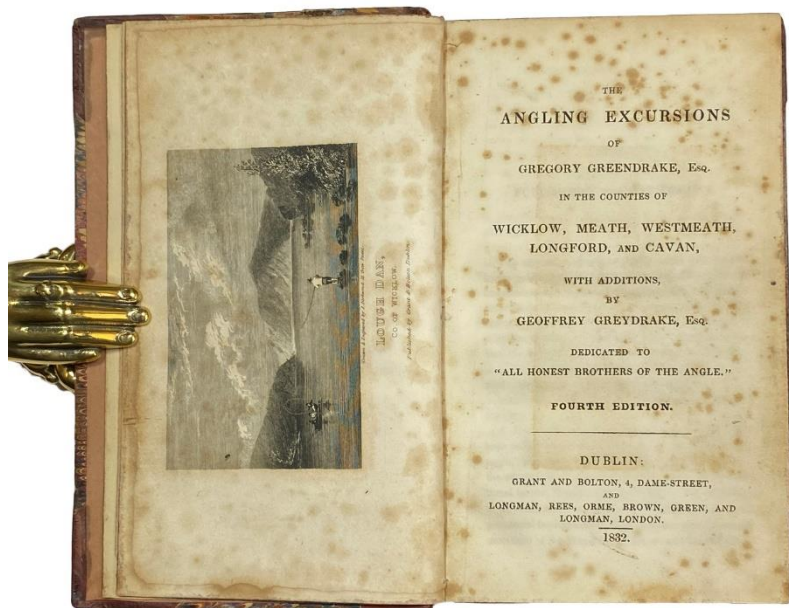

"A compilation, rather than an original work, and not to be confounded with the poetical work of John Dennys. It has become scarce. Copies were included, with those of other tracts having separate titles and pagination but consecutive signatures, in a volume with a collective title, issued in 1704 by the same publisher". See A Family Jewel, p90, as an example". Westwood & Satchell.

9. GREENDRAKE, Gregory & Greydrake, Geoffrey. [pseud. of J. Coad and Thomas Ettingsall].

The Angling Excursions of Gregory Greendrake Esq in the Counties of Wicklow, Meath, Westmeath, Longford and Cavan , with Additions by Geoffrey Greydrake Esq. Dedicated to "All Honest Brothers of the Angle". Fourth Edition. Dublin. Grant and Bolton. and London. Longmans, Rees, Orme, Brown and Longman. 1832. 12mo, 17cm, 4th edition, vi,313p., engraved frontis, map wanting, in contemporary half calf, raised bands, gilt decorations and borders in the panels, black leather label, marbled boards and edges, title page foxed with off setting on the frontis, otherwise a very good to fine sound copy 450.00

Copies usually have some foxing. The fourth edition was considerably extended. Previous editions only covered Wicklow.

HAIG-BROWN, Roderick L.

The Salmon. Ottawa. Environment Canada/ Fisheries and Marine Service. 1974. 4to. 30.5cm, first edition, 79p. with 39 colour plates (5 double page), In Fine Signed Binding, "V. Bélanger, 1974", with his ticket on the rear endpaper, in quarter morocco grain warm brown calf continued on the inner hinges, blind ruled raised bands, gilt titles on crushed brown morocco label, marbled boards and endpapers, beautifully executed, fine, rare

Done for the United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea, in Caracas, Venezuela. Limited 50 sets in leather which were for Kings, Queens and Heads of State, 800 clothbound copies were issued for Ambassadors, Government Ministers and Senior Conference delegates. David Denbigh who worked on the production assured me that their were not more than 50 in leather and c.800 in cloth. There is no signed edition. The auction copy with the Bill Reid plates signed was sophisticated for a charity auction and Reid had refused to sign further copies. The auction copy in Vancouver (March, 1977), contained the same book in quarter leather, and had the usual simulated argillite replica on the portfolio cover. We have had a copy with the Bill Reid Agrilite carving reproduces in silver.

Fine Signed Binding by Bélanger

11. HAIG-BROWN, Roderick L.

The Salmon. Ottawa. Environment Canada/ Fisheries and Marine Service. 1974. 4to. 30.5cm, first edition, 79p. with 39 colour plates (5 double page), In Fine Signed Binding, "V. 500.00

We have not seen this version listed separately. We are aware of three issues, one in full morocco grain calf, another in quarter (this one) and a third in linen with leather spine and cover labels, and a fourth in stiff wraps.

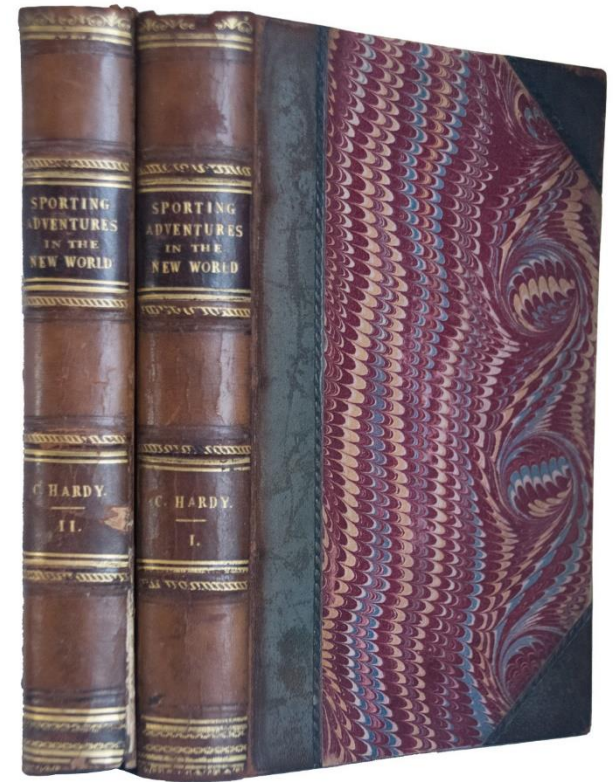

12. HARDY, Campbell

Sporting Adventures in The New World; or, Days and Nights of Moose-Hunting in the Pine Forests of Acadia. London. Hurst & Blackett, Publishers. 1855. 12mo. 19cm, The First Edition, in 2 volumes, xii,304 & viii,299,pp., with 2 hand-coloured lithographed frontis views, in contemporary half calf, gilt decorated raised bands, dark crimson crushed morocco title labels, author & volume numbers in gilt, French marbled boards and endpapers, armorial bookplate, some light spotting on both frontis plates, some wear on the edges, top outer hinge starting at the top and bottom on volume two but both volumes are sound, a very good set of a classic sporting narrative 900.00

Lande 1821. T.P.L. 3555. Gagnon I-1606. Sabin 30350. Field 651. Story p344. The author, an officer in the Royal Artillery, was stationed for fifteen years in the Maritime provinces, principally at Halifax. This narrative of his sporting adventures, a classic in its field, includes an account of a trip through New Brunswick. The work is also noted by Field as containing much unique information regarding the Micmac Indians.

"Negligible records of travel, but vigorous stories of hunting and fishing, camping and bush-whacking. Local description and details of flora and fauna and of Micmac life add to a lively book by a former artillery officer trained to accurate reportage" Waterston p99.

13. IRELAND.

14. [KENT, Charles]

By Celtic Waters. Holiday Jaunts with Rod Camera & Paint Brush. By C.K. Illustrated. London. J. Davy & Sons Dryden Press. 1894. 12mo, 19.2cm, viii,152,[3]p., ads., limited to 500 numbered copies, this being #349, illustrated, quarter Japon vellum backed printed paper over boards, spine is brown damp stained, the boards are damp stained on the bottom third, text is mainly unaffected, good 150.00

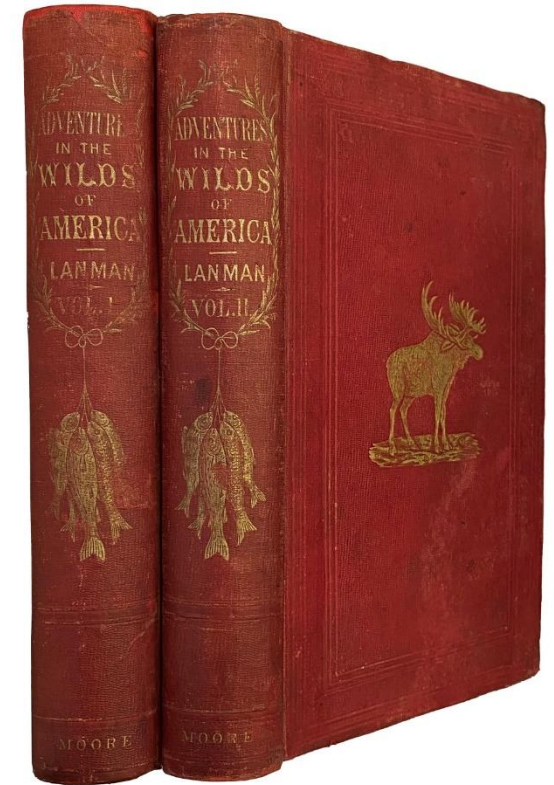

Fishing in Wales, (Radnorshire, Rhayader), in Ireland, (Donegal) and England, (Shropshire, Herefordshire). A nineteenth century angling memoir written in a very engaging style. Very scarce as most copies were destroyed in a warehouse fire.

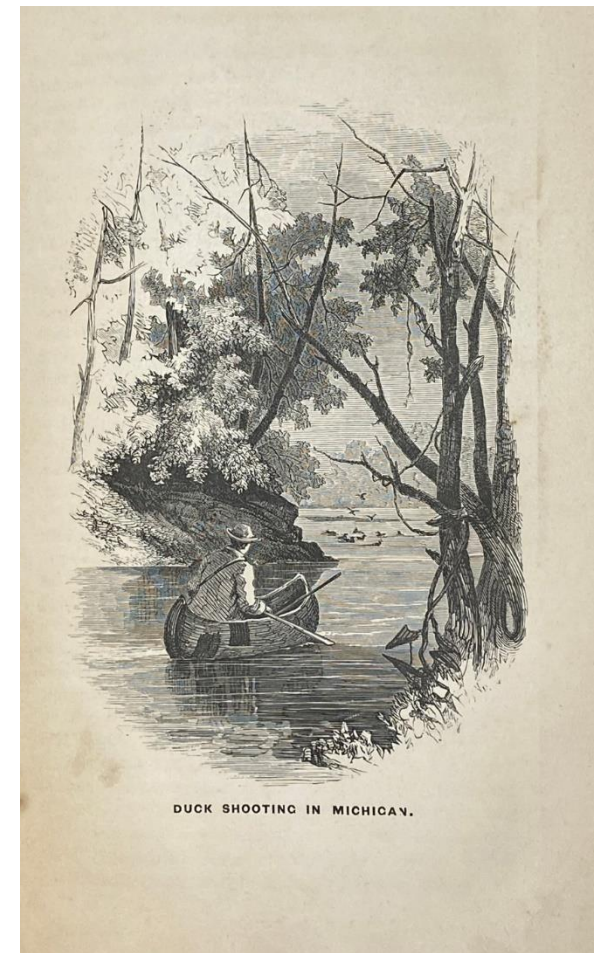

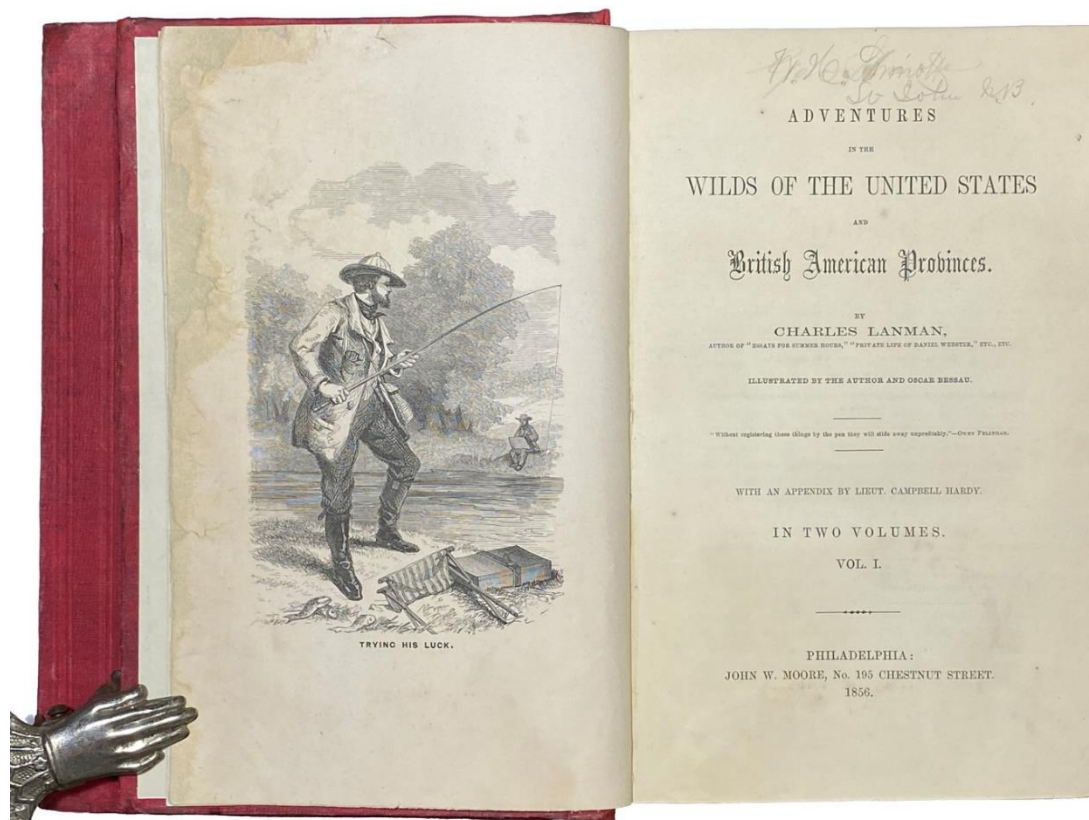

15. LANMAN, Charles

Adventures in the Wilds of the United States and British American Provinces. Illustrated by the Author and Oscar Bessau. With an Appendix by Lieut. Campbell Hardy. Philadelphia. John W. Moore. 1856. 8vo. 23cm, the [enlarged] first American edition, in 2 volumes, xi,[iv],514 & 517,[iii]8pp., ads., with 12 fine wood engraved plates with tissue guards, in the original gilt and blind decoration red cloth, pictorial (moose) decoration in gilt on the upper cover repeated in blind on the bottom, light internal damp stain, new endpapers, expertly restored, a very good set 600.00

W&S p130, Heckscher #1199. T.P.L. 3672. Sabin 38913. Sheets p62. This edition not in Lande. cf. Waterston p96. Howes L-87. Clark III: 341. Contains several additional parts written between 1846 and 1856. "Adventures of a Angler in Canada". (1848). As well, this American edition contains material not in the London edition (1854): "The Sources of the Potomac in volume one & A Tour to the River Restigouche" and "A Winter in the South" in volume two. The book contains the author's travels and his hunting and fishing excursions to Quebec, New Brunswick, the Alleghanies, along the Mississippi, in the Southern States, and in the Lake Superior. Lanman, a writer of some merit, spent most of his time travelling around the back country. He thought of this work as "a kind of cyclopedia of American scenery, personal adventure, and of travelling incidents, calculated to exhibit the manners and customs of our people, and interest the lovers of natural history and the various arts of sporting." The travels include a trip to the head of the Mississippi, a tour of the river Saguenay in Canada, hunting in the Allegheny mountains, an excursion in western Maryland and Virginia, and a trip from Washington to Florida, New Orleans and back up the Mississippi in the winter of 1835. An important collection by one of the foremost travelers.

William Blackwood & Sons. 1889. thick8vo. 21.1cm, (iii)-xx,464p., colour lithographed frontis and 8 tone photolitho gravure plates, many text illustrations, in contemporary full calf, gilt decorated raised bands, crushed morocco red and green morocco labels, gilt decorative borders and gilt roll decoration on the board and board edges, marbled endpapers and text edges, some slight unobtrusive wrinkling on both free flies, armorial bookplate, a fine attractive copy

600.00

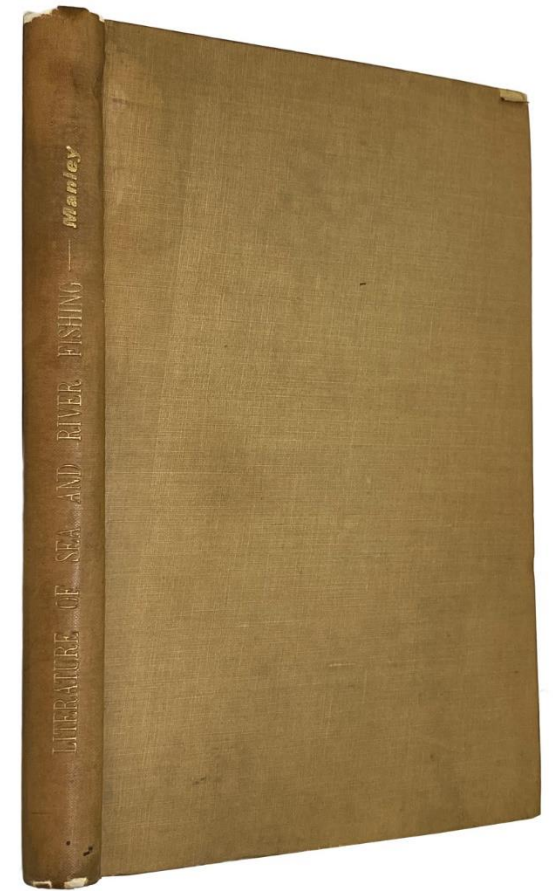

Yakushi M23: "The author travelled from Srinagar to Leh, and then to Chang Chenmo, Lingzitang in 1871." While the main purpose of the book is a discussion of hunting in the Himalayas and in "the uplands beyond", the author also provides excellent descriptions of the terrain, the people, and especially of the wild life in the region through which he travelled. MacIntyre was an officer with the Gurkhas and a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. The large armorial bookplate is that of Sir William Gordon Cumming, a well-known big game hunter and author.

19. MANLEY, J,[ohn J. [ACKSON].

Literature of Sea and River Fishing. London. William Clowes and Sons. 1883. 8vo, The First Edition, vi,[2],160p., complete with half-title, original tan brown cloth, spine title faded and slightly dust worn, top or bottom spine edge bit worn, glue residue from removed bookplate from the front paste down endpaper, a very good copy, scarce 250.00

A reference guide to a selection of works which refer to the sea and river fishing, mostly confined to the British literary production. There are some critical remarks but it is mainly descriptive bibliography of the works which the author considered important. He uses a chronological approach including a survey of the literature through the centuries (there is a reference to Plutarch), a discussion of Izaak Walton and his contemporaries, the English poets on fishing and the surrounding periodical literature. There are entertaining citations throughout, coming either from the books or from contemporary reviewers. This is a useful book for collectors and researchers.

Starkman p129, in: Landmarks in the Evolution of the Literature of Angling: 1496-1969. Bruns T-10. Litchfield 86. Hampton. p91. "Taverner has written widely on all aspects of modern fishing. His Trout Fishing...a large work of some 450 pages, is one of the most complete studies of the subject ever made. Largely technical and instructive, it includes chapters on the life history of the trout, on tackle, on entomology, on flies and fly dressing, on the legal aspect of fishing, and on fishery management. It also contains two opening chapters on milestones in angling literature. It is a work of importance for British anglers, with a somewhat slighter appeal to North American readers. The second volume of the famous Lonsdale Library series, it is a handsomely made book with fine illustrations.
